We are pleased to inform you about the IBAN attached to the mentioned sort code and account number.

Your IBAN (International Bank Account Number) is not another account number, but an internationally recognised format for validating for instance your accounts with Nordea, of which the ordinary account number forms part. The IBAN is only used for cross-border payments.

The use of IBAN makes it possible for the remitting bank to check the validity of the relevant IBAN, thus avoiding additional costs for error correction.

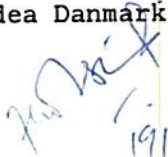

For incoming cross-border payments you should state both the IBAN which Nordea has provided for your account and Nordea's BIC (NDEADKKK).

For outgoing cross-border payments the corresponding information on the IBAN and the BIC from the foreign beneficiary should be stated.

We recommend that you always state both the relevant IBAN provided for your account with Nordea and Nordea's BIC on your invoices and alike.

Yours faithfully
